

16th IATSO Conference – Information for Speakers

Speakers of the 16th conference of the International Association for the Treatment of Sexual Offenders (IATSO) are invited to share their conference paper slides, posters and video/audio recordings of their papers via PsychArchives.

PsychArchives is a disciplinary repository for psychological science and neighboring disciplines, in which a variety of digital research objects (DROs), including articles, preprints, research data, code, supplements, conference papers and multimedia objects, are made accessible for the long term. Related objects, e.g. belonging to the same conference paper, are linked within the repository. PsychArchives is maintained by the Leibniz Institute for Psychology (ZPID), the supra-regional scientific research support organization for psychology in German-speaking countries.

We are looking forward to your contribution! PsychArchives offers the following benefits:

- Citable and discoverable – uploads are assigned a Digital Object Identifier (DOI) to make them easily and uniquely citable.
- Open licensing – fostering re-use and open science.
- Safe – your research output is stored safely for the future at a sustainable, publicly funded infrastructure.

Contributors have the option of embargoing their content in PsychArchives, e.g. until the start of the IATSO conference. After expiration of the embargo period, both DRO and metadata are made available in PsychArchives.

When submitting your content, please take into account the PsychArchives Technical Guidelines. If you are searching for more information, a look at our FAQ section may be helpful.

Contact

If you have any questions regarding the submission process, please contact the PsychArchives Team:
Lea Gerhards
T. +49 (0)651 201-2038
Email: psycharchives-submission@leibniz-psychology.org

How to Submit to PsychArchives

Please follow these seven steps:

1. Access the PsychArchives Submission Assistant.
2. Sign in with ORCID or your Leibniz Psychology Account.
3. Start a new submission or edit a previously started submission.
4. Upload your file(s) and allocate the DRO type(s). If you need help with the latter, consult this list of DRO examples and their corresponding PsychArchives collections.
5. Choose the access category and license(s).
6. Edit the metadata.
7. Finish your submission.

Your submission will be reviewed as quickly as possible by the PsychArchives team. If it adheres to our guidelines, we will include your file(s) in PsychArchives and send you the final DOI(s).

PsychArchives currently supports the Open Content licenses CC-BY 4.0, CC-BY-SA 4.0 and LGPL 3.0. Data provision is governed by our terms of use.